

May 17, 2012

Dear President Obama:

Your meeting at Camp David on May 19, 2012 to discuss food security with African leaders, including Ethiopian Prime Minister Meles Zenawi, is a major opportunity to address what may be the single largest man-made contributor to food insecurity on the continent today: large-scale land investments by foreign investors.

As you sit down with Prime Minister Meles Zenawi, we ask you to consider the attached letter signed by more than 8,000 supporters of the indigenous and local communities of Gambella – 70,000 people in all – who are being forcibly relocated to make land available for investment in agriculture. There are plans to relocate an additional 150,000 people, most of whom are subsistence farmers who have been able, until now, to feed their families without receiving government or foreign aid over the last twenty years.

In addition to the many problems surrounding forced relocations, which include lack of transparency and human rights abuses, the loss of ancestral lands where people farm equals the loss of their ability to feed themselves. Farmers and pastoralists are being turned into plantation workers in menial seasonal jobs that do not put food on the table or provide for their basic needs. Against all evidence, the US ambassador to Ethiopia, Donald E. Booth, visited Gambella in January 2012 and said he witnessed "the people of Gambella benefiting from the fruits of development in the state." Mr. Booth seems unwilling to acknowledge any of the abuse, violence, or coercion that human rights groups and the media have reported – he might have witnessed it as well, had he been free to expand his visit beyond approved sites.

The African Union, the Committee on World Food Security, and a growing number of international organizations and experts agree that the trend of large-scale land investments in Africa constitutes a threat to food security in a number of countries.

According to the World Bank, more than 96 million acres, an area about the size of France, are involved in large-scale land acquisitions. It is a troublesome and growing phenomenon. Fertile lands where communities have tilled and gathered for generations are being leased, mostly to foreign investors and primarily for export crops. Communities are relocated with promises of improved quality of life with schools, health care, and better livelihoods. They are often left with an inability to feed themselves and no new services or way to return to their previous homes.

The Oakland Institute's recent field research in Ethiopia revealed a grim picture of violence, coercion, and unrealized benefits by relocated communities. These findings are confirmed by Human Rights Watch's independent study involving 100 interviews and sixteen site visits this year.

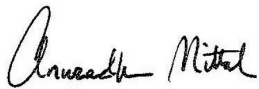

The burden of the Ethiopian government's objective of economic growth is being borne by the indigenous and local people of Gambella and the Lower Omo Valley, where a half million are slated to be moved. This is too great a cost.

As Ethiopia is one of the largest recipients of US aid (more than $1 billion a year since 2007), the US bears responsibility on matters of such grave consequence. Something has to be done to ensure that we are not unwitting partners in this current tragedy.

We urge you to look beyond the charade of this so-called responsible investment that will supposedly benefit all in the long run, and instead reassess the terms of US support to the regime.

We hope that you will take leadership in responding to an international call asking you to put the brakes on this impending and present-day catastrophe.

Sincerely,

Anuradha Mittal

President Barack Obama and Dr. Rajiv Shah, USAID administrator

Dear President Obama and USAID Administrator Dr. Rajiv Shah:

By continuing to provide huge amounts of aid to Ethiopia, the US is in partnership with a repressive regime that puts large-scale agricultural investment and for-profit access to Ethiopia's fertile lands over the well-being and land rights of indigenous and local people.

The forced relocation of residents of Gambella has caused great hardship to tens of thousands including rape, other violent acts, coercion, and intimidation. We do not believe that USAID should support such endeavors and ask for due diligence in respect to the human rights of the people of Gambella.

The US government should not condone these horrific acts as the price Ethiopians must pay for development and food security in Ethiopia. We ask you to look at the facts regarding the kind of investments occurring in Ethiopia and to ensure US assistance actually benefits local communities and not just the interests of a minority.

Therefore, we should strongly urge the U.S Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on African Affairs and the House Subcommittee on Africa, Global Health, and Human Rights to call for an investigation into the misuse of USAID aid by the TPLF/EPRDF regime; however, the TPLF/EPRDF are unlikely to be impartial and instead such an investigation should be independent and include representation of the donor (US), who ultimately bears the burden of responsibility to the US taxpayer. A team should investigate reports of money laundering by members of the TPLF/EPRDF in light of new FATF concerns and continued allegations.

Despite receiving billions of dollars in aid, Ethiopians remain among the poorest in the world. Since early 2008, the Ethiopian government has embarked on a process to award millions of hectares (ha) of land to foreign and national agricultural investors. Our research shows that at least 3,619,509 ha of land have been transferred to investors, although the actual number may be higher. The Ethiopian government claims that these investments will allow for much needed foreign currency to enter into the economy and will contribute to long-term food security through the transfer of technology to small-scale farmers. Through interviews with impacted communities, government officials, investors, civil society and others, this (continues on next page)

The general findings of this research include: Commercial investment will increase rates of food insecurity in the vicinity of land investments. Despite Ethiopia’s endemic poverty and food insecurity, there are no mechanisms in place to ensure that these investments contribute to improved food security. In addition, there are numerous incentives to ensure that food production is exported out of the country, providing foreign exchange for the country at the expense of local food supplies. Finally, while the Ethiopian government lists transfer of technology as a major outcome of land investment, it has established no mechanism for such transfers to take place.

You would think that with time things might bet better or that fights won could lead us to new levels of growth and understanding. Unfortunately we seem to be slipping back and re-fighting the same battles we thought were won a long time ago. These things make me both angry and sad.

Any faithful person or entity guided by morality and religion would never let such lopsidedness happen. US foreign policy should show great wisdom and not bow down to unjust merchant like behavior. African nations will never have the opportunity to seek and strengthen itself which looks like what foreign investments in Africa is all about-taking advantage of those blameless by those only blamed who continue to blaspheme and devise wicked plans for power struggle, etc. It does not look good, it doesn't sound good, and it surely does not follow in God's law. Dr. Rajiv Shah, are you up to something? There is no Oneness in this. How can it be? President Barack Obama will lose votes. Even though big pockets always win, the point is to be just and fair. 552.	simeneh makonnen	Richmond, Australia	Dear President Obama, As a community organizer, you understood that the younger generation is the locomotive of change. You directly addressed and motivated so many young generations and middle income communities to embrace a new agenda you called 'change we believe in'. By so doing you galvanized millions of young Ethiopian-Americans to enrol for change and preached for peace, justice and democracy not only in America around the world to "happen now or never". I was so excited watching history being made - your election, to the highest office in the world, as the first black president. The overwhelming majority of Ethiopians, including myself, in America and around the world supported your election for all the things you said and strongly stood for. Unfortunately, that message has not been either delivered or received in Ethiopia or Africa. We have patiently waited for your promises of peace, justice and democracy to shine on Ethiopia and beyond. Although, we absolutely empathize with you for the enormity of the scrambled tasks you have inherited to fix, both at home and around the world, we could not sustain the conditions in Ethiopia any longer and we have no alternative but to address the issues to you so you can take any action you may think is necessary. Thank you.
553.	Mary Holmes	Twickenham, United Kingdom	I think it's terrible to read what is happening to the people of Gambella. They should be able to grow their own food on their own land and not be forced into dependence on foreign aid. This is the opposite of what aid should be about.

561.	Zeg Fanta	Seattle, WA	I was a Senior Cartographer in the Ministry of Land Reform and Administration. During my career, part of my job was identifying lands via various types of maps for planned local, regional and national developments. The lands that the regime of EPRDF/TPLF gave away like the other territories are marked precious than lands of gold or diamond deposits. They were part of lands planned for large scale state farms for use in the event of crises if and when the people become unable to produce using the existing farm lands because of natural or human induced catastrophe. Nothing would destroy Ethiopia and its people effectively than depriving the people and the nation the prime lands essential for the survival of generation. What we see now is a system that is ending the existence and continuity of the people and the nation. Any force should stop and remove the region. Any means is necessary and timely now!

Meles the name of "silent killer" ,is the 9th worst of the worst leader in the world ( Prof. Gregor Ayittey 2010 edition), &amp; constantly amoung the world top 10 enemies of the press/ Freedom of Speech since he came to power in 1991 (accourding to CPJ, Reports Without Borders,HRW,,,reports) Infact, in the last 20 years, under Meles direct command his federal police forces shot dead thousands of innocent civilians &amp; opposition party members , according to some sources , today 30-50 thousand political prisoners/ prisoners of conscience in Ethiopia, who have committed " State" crimes by exercising their guaranteed " Human &amp; Democratic Rights ". Besides, in the name of investment, Meles has placed Ethiopia under the market forces of globalization so as to sell or lease its fertile lands to international land-grabbers, the colonial regime of Zenawi has been violently evicting the Ethiopian villagers from their homes and farmlands because his motto is “sell and eat today and die tomorrow.” According to Oakland Institute sources, this time in Gambella only estimated that 75% of the domestic Investors which is widely to receive beneficial treatment in relation to investment and given land freely &amp; receive preferential access to credit were from Tigray (Zenawi’s ethnic group people) such a practice is a kind of Colonialism. Therefore, please, open your mind &amp; heart to help our people &amp; be part of the voice of the voiceless Ethiopian. Thank you.

916.	Raphael Sperry	San Francisco, CA	President Obama, are you and your Administration about to give financial support to Ethiopia's autocratic ruler, Meles Zenawi, to help him carry out his cruel villagization program? Zenawi's government is forcibly removing the Gambella, Benishangul-Gumuz, Somali and Afar peoples from their ancestral lands and deliberately turning whole communities into internally displaced peoples in their own country. Those refusing to be relocated are imprisoned or killed. Shame on US Ambassador Booth, claiming that the Gambella people are benefiting from the fruits of development, when many human right organizations and reputable journalists have written to the contrary. Environmentalists are also concerned that clearing more than 3.5 million hectares of land for the planned farms could have a detrimental impact on the environment, because many trees have to be cut which would destroy Ethiopia's protected game reserves, as well as the wildlife. The UN, the Food and Agriculture Organization, the UN World Food Programme and the World Bank have all written against such a policy in Ethiopia where famine stalks the country every other year. It is alleged that the Ethiopian government has leased out an area the size of France for 99 years, which is expected to generate a lucrative business. Global Financial Integrity's (GFI) report dated May 12, 2011 "Illicit Financial Flows From the Least Developed Countries, 1990-2008" lists Ethiopia as the ninth top exporter of US$8.4 billion of illicit capital. As a tax payer, I am also against my tax dollars going to such a brutal ruler.

In the case of landgrabsd by Indian investors or government or China, taking away their own good farm land ti build 8 land highways and fancy upper class apartment complexes is clearly one of the reasons they are now taking away Ethopia's land. These investors need to be required to give up and grow food on their own land instead of putting down more and more concrete.

		I have not researched specifically which big-moneyed investors might be trying to buy this specific land - land already providing sustenance for already living people and communities. But I do know prominent American universities have in some cases used endowment funds for these purchases in current time. I also know this is an "old" story in human affairs, (previous famines in different lands, including the Irish potato famine!) The outrage of people being dispossessed from land in current times is seen in Mexico following NAFTA. It is also documented in Frances Moore Lappe's book "Food First", published around 1970. This practice is an outrage committed by those "of privilege". It is a crime in moral terms, and is rooted in greed. That it continues bodes ill for 21st Century humanity.

Is it the wish of the US government to let these people die of starvation by moving them to non-productive land that they will be unable to grow food on and feed themselves. Ethiopian families need access to clean water, land, equipment and know-how, not big agricultural corporations charging them money for what they could grow for themselves. 		I stand for solidarity and the protection of indigene rights to land ownership. In Ndian division in Cameroon, investors have signed a similar pact with the government of Cameroon to use 70,000hectares of land for palm plantation, without due consultation with the indigenes. Currently, the indigenes of Ndian division are waging a similar fight. So, as a people whose problems are similar, I stand in shoulder with the Gambella people of Ethiopia to say no the land grabbing, no to family displacement, yes to dialogue with the indigenes and let their opinions be the guiding force to any project in their land.

US AID!!!..promising to assist in making life a bit better.?? Think of Americans...and many other countries. One is born into a country. One loves this country..it is called pride is it not?...how difficult it must be to think of a little mind , an adults mind..when they try to find answers as to why they are so disrespected.no matter how hard they try in their own country..we know of that.. is that not why the health plan was implemented against Hitler mongers in our own country. (and I know malnutrition first hand) they that cannot feed their children, parents, themselves..as they are.suffering malnutrition; they are called lazy and useless...my God what horrific people we are to watch this unnecessary happening. Bill and Melinda Gates and the few others cannot do it all. This is worse than Iraq. We have know the corrupt government..selling out to the ones who feel they can, in my mind steal this beautiful country in Africa.. A country long neglected given crumbs only. Truthful, I feel the average Joe fears the black man...and we know whites are a minority in this world.. and I am white..truth us truth..I love God's people and count myself blessed when I have have love and respect from another , Black Asian, Muslim... We have been part of the crucifixion. We have denied monies to cultivate land properly to have our great minds we so proudly educate, create a water source that can reach wonderful soil rich soil that needs irrigation..to farmlands and living communities. We could merge tradition with high tech so as not to redefine the African but show them we appreciate their beauty and ways, but we have offerings to assist them in building their country as Americans and Europeans did theirs. Has no country not been down and out and needed assistance..? I think so .. What is the song.."this is my country, the land of the free."The East will steal all that is good and the natural (continues on next page)

Grace Feldmann	SANTA BARBARA, CA	We all know that this land leasing will be used for GMO crops and inhumane factory farming, slowly poisoning the environment and all forms of life for generations to come..In the USA this has happened, even though the people are against it. It seems as though the land should be given back to the people to grow organically raised crops, in every country GMO crops should be banned and a holistic agricultural model adapted that serves all life forms and not the corporations.. It is time to listen to the people...We are all accountable to a Higher Source....

		I lived in Ethiopia during the late 60's when it was ruled by Emperor Haile Selassie. He tried to make sure girls got schooling and that the people were able to farm and feed themselves. It's sad that the people are being betrayed by their leaders who simply want to line their pockets. These people deserve better than they are getting. I'd like the Ethiopian leadership to explain their actions.
2,721. patricia ahmad	AGOURA HILLS, CA	If agricultural plantations are being developed to help the starving in so many parts of Africa then that's admirable, but why can't you employ and provide housing for the people you're forcing to move to work on these farms? But if you're forcing people off viable land on to land where nothing will grow, that's no better than genocide under a different name.

Now it would appear that it is doing it again, by supporting lucrative projects of mechanized agriculture, never mind the cultural customs and tribal dynamic of the people who live there. I say keep your hands off. Try other things which produce jobs consistent with exiting customs and allow the next generation to make the demands for change: education, communication, family planning, health care.

3,079. Frank Fredenburg	Milford, PA	I've read about foreigners buying up African lands to grow food for their countries. Those lands should be used to feed the people of Africa. The jobs should all go to their people. The Ethiopian people should be farming their own lands. People shouldn't be forcibly relocated. Ethiopia is a large country. I would like to know why anyone needs to be forcibly relocated.

Nothing seems to change but this must not be allowed to happen. American supported Haile Sellassie because of the Cold War and he was overthrown anyway. America supports Meles because of the War on Terror and he will eventually be overthrown as well. Doing the same thing over and over and expecting a different result is insanity. Doesn't CIA ever learn anything? I warned them what was going to happen then and the reaction was hostility. I was right then and I am right now.

We must keep those of interest whom are only interested in investment AWAY for they are not there for the welfare of the people. Please Use your discretion otherwise I see are very dire and bleak situation for the people of Ethiopia and their land. They need us but not to be bled by shady investors that will destroy the environment and their communities and make their situation even graver. Please do what is morally right!

Something needs to be done~ I really don't have the solution~ but the droughts and starving people need help. I don't think bringing in large scale agricultural plantations while dislocating the people is the solution. Can't money be spent on helping them to farm their lands with help with wells and irrigation? You know much more than I do about this so ,please help these people how to farm the land to feed themselves,not let outsiders come in and take over. If outsiders can farm this land then the Ethiopian people should be helped to do the same. Thank you,in advance, for your consideration. gael tryles. MI

It will be a cycle from which they will never escape as a nation, further compounding poverty with terrible working conditions. Instead use the $1 billion annual carrot to encourage Ethiopia to reform its land ownership laws so that Ethiopians themselves can be the owners and stewards of their own wonderful country. I appreciate the hard work you both do to facilitate the betterment of humanity across the globe.

They evicted indigenous people from their ancestral land and threw in to inferno. This dictatorial regime led by Meles Zenawi has perpetrated systematic genocide against the people of Gambella. However the UN member countries and the United State of America give a blind eyes and deaf ears to the desperate indigenous people ordeals. The world must take swift action against the dictator who has been engaged in systematic genocide.

Perhaps even some working toward actually improving the situation of the people the government is trying to forcibly remove, such as for instance by strengthening their rights to stay on their traditional land?

Destroying more fertile land with big crop consumerism is the most destructive option for the land and its people. Can we not learn from what we already know about this type of destruction. We've done it so many times before, can we finally try something different?

4,442. Gary Prevo	Livonia, MI	This land grab reminds me of the conditions that led america to be the, "prosperous", country that it is. It caused for centuries of inhumane treatment to the indigenous peoples of this and other lands. it brought upon them pain, suffering, hunger and massacre. Do we as a civilized nation wish to stand by idly by while this happens to another group of human beings. There are a lot of Americans of good conscience who still carry the feelings of guilt for the carrying out manifest destiny. I hope not. Please do the right thing. Respectfully,

4,485. Robert Knight	Vestal, NY	The US government forcibly relocated our native Americans in violation of US treaties with those native peoples, & in violation of their human rights, and gave their lands to American settlers and businesses. America, with its financial clout in Ethiopia, now can begin to make amends by standing on the side of 70,000 people from Gambella, to stop this land grab. Americans must answer the question: is OUR government on the side of the 1% or on the side of the 99%? When America gives $1 billion per year to Ethiopia, does America insist that the $1 billion goes to the everyday people of Ethiopia and groups representing them? Think about it. Its great to know that the American people are watching these developments and speaking up! Respectfully submitted.

Helping individual and local small-scale farmers is so much more beneficial to the people, the country, and the planet. Here in the U.S., there is a growing movement to shift back to local, organic farming for many reasons: better quality food, much lower impact on the environment, helps local economy, are just a few examples. Don't let big agribusiness ruin your beautiful country!

4,999. Richard Nelson	Lombard, IL	The Ethiopian people have suffered through drought and starvation. Now their Governemnt wish's to steal the lands they live on, the lands they work to produce food for their families. All so they can make profit by leasing these lands to farming companies, so they my grow food to be sold in other countries. In the meantime, the USA sends 7 billion dollars a year to help try and feed the people of Ethiopia. Leasing these lands will not provide the people of Ethiopia jobs or food to feed the starving masses. This must not be allowed, I call on President Obama to tell the Ethiopian Government that if they take these lands from their own people the US will cut off add to the Ethiopian Government.

Arbitrary arrests, and forced relocation are other tools of one Ethnic dominated regime (the TPLF). Acts of ethnic cleansing, forced relocation, and political suppression against the indigenous people of Gambella and Ethiopia as whole has become official policies of the TPLF. These land grabs are a new form of neo-colonialism that leaves large parts of Africa in the hands of foreign states and investors while displaced local populations are left to suffer and go hungry. The act of engaging in such behavior is certainly immoral and inhumane and it should stop. Long live Ethiopia.

5,382. Melissa Prosser	Paradise, UT	Did we not learn from what happened to the Native Americans? Please, stop this. These people are my family, and yours, whether you believe it or not. Who would treat another this way? It is disgusting to exploit innocents and drive them from their homes to strengthen your military or steal their resources simply because you deem them primitive. They know amazing things, and they are being marginalized. They are minorities in their own country!

5,785. Richard Hendricks	Webster, NY	You know, the vast majority of Ethiopians and Africans in general may find this land-grab offer as another form of institutional racism from abroad. You know it's bad enough that Nigeria have to allow many of it's people in the Nigerian Delta to live and in shockingly unspeakable living conditions because oil companies had display them into extreme poverty, but they way the Ethiopian Government would have the nerve to force 70,000 of it's people off their land makes it almost as bad. Those 70,000 Ethiopians happen to have rights too, you know. So the best thing to do right now is let the 70,000 Ethiopians keep their land, that way the United States and Ethiopia will avoid a major conflict from taking place somewhere in Africa.

They are ACTUALLY willing to create and an even WORSE starvation situation by letting FOREIGNERS(!?!) to take over land their OWN citizens need in order to just LIVE???? Let them know in no uncertain terms that they are monsters if they remove those poor people off that precious land!!!!!!

Small, local organic agriculture is far more efficient and productive in all ways, not to mention healthier for all life! Do not be fooled! Support the true road to progress for ALL, not big bucks for the few (big business)and negatives for everyone and everything else. You can have a huge influence on making this damaging trend toward big ag a thing of the past. Please help us molt out of this simplistic, exploitive paradigm. Thank-you.

6,685. Demelash jegenaw	Addis-Abeba, Ethiopia	By continuing to provide huge amounts of aid to Ethiopia, the US is in partnership with a repressive regime that puts large-scale agricultural investment and for-profit access to Ethiopia's fertile lands over the well-being and land rights of indigenous and local people. 6,685. Demelash jegenaw	Addis-Abeba, Ethiopia	(continued from previous page) The forced relocation of residents of Gambella has caused great hardship to tens of thousands including rape, other violent acts, coercion, and intimidation. We do not believe that USAID should support such endeavors and ask for due diligence in respect to the human rights of the people of Gambella. The US government should not condone these horrific acts as the price Ethiopians must pay for development and food security in Ethiopia. We ask you to look at the facts regarding the kind of investments occurring in Ethiopia and to ensure US assistance actually benefits local communities and not just the interests of a minority.

6,960. Bernd Lichters	Neckarsteinach, Germany	This cannot be, greed over the wellbeing of innocent people. It is nothing wrong with agriculture but ONLY if there is honest oversight that the 70,000 residence are included and NOT relocated. They do not need large-scale agriculture plantations for the greedy but smaller agriculture planning to help the population to be able to feed their families. Otherwise it is a crime against humanity.

This dictatorship is ethnic based and commits atrocities such as massacres, genocide, starvation and incitement of interethnic conflicts and preaching and spreading of hatred among the different communities. It employs the old colonial method of divide and rule. Farmers that are accused of supporting and voting for the opposition parties are systematically abused and punished through the denial of access to fertilizers, improved seeds, humanitarian help and other social services. They are evicted from their fertile farming lands which are leased to foreign investors from China, India and Saudi Arabia and forced to settle elsewhere without adequate provisions and support. The newly graduating students will be denied jobs and further education opportunities if they do not become the members and supporters of the ruling party or front. Membership and loyalty to the authorities are the keys to job and higher education opportunities. Civil servants lose their jobs for the same reasons. The government has enacted different draconian laws including the anti-terrorism law mainly aimed at penalizing dissent, curbing freedom of expression, free media and cracking down on its opponents and pro-democracy activists.

Land grab, because the produce is only to be shipped out of the country, it does not bring a technology transfer or wealth to the country in general but to some selected elite. Land grab because of its greedy tendency it b prohibits genuin investors from participating in the countries economy.

If these Ethiopian lands show farming potential at large scales, why can't the government undertake this endeavor locally to benefit its people than selling land internationally; except that it is for the benefit of a few? I fail to understand how the world body can allow such a devious program to be undertaken by a corrupt government, in concert with a few greedy international investors, at the demise of a people. Moving is not a readily welcome process, and we all know even with convenient urban amenities how much of a hassle it is, let alone moving entire villages en-mass, for what, financial benefit of a few. We cannot, and should not allow these draconian behavior to continue to punctuate our legacies. It is very convenient and equally appalling for the U.S. to support and be in cahoots with Meles Zenawi and his repressive regime in (continues on next page)

We are all aware of the land-grab rush that is taking place in Africa, and it is ethically and morally irresponsible, and should not be allowed at all, because ultimately the end results to all these corruption will come back to haunt the rest of us.

I don't believe in them being well planned and properly executed. There is always a high probability of corruption on both sides. Instead of letting local population using that money for progressive economic and social development those funds just disappear in deep pockets of corrupt officials leading to various social and military conflicts and growing number of refugees. It's more than stupidity to clear forests (!) in Africa. It's a crime. Especially when it's done by foreign corporations. Africa is being practically raped socially and economically by the so-called developed world for centuries and all evil regimes there are first gladly fostered by foreign governments and then brutally attacked when they believe the time for a new puppet has come.

The Ethiopian government has shown no willingness to engage with constructive criticism and advice from those who have a detailed knowledge of the land and people of the Lower Omo and who are long-standing friends of Ethiopia. A huge moral responsibility therefore rests on Western donors (not least my own government which gives more foreign aid to Ethiopia than to any other country) to stand up for the rights and welfare of thousands of vulnerable and politically marginalised people in Gambella and the Lower Omo.
8,083. David Way	Lakeview, OR	Raphael Lemkin on the original meaning of the word 'genocide': "Generally speaking, genocide does not necessarily mean the immediate destruction of a nation, except when accomplished by mass killings of all members of a nation. It is intended rather to signify a coordinated plan of different actions aiming at the destruction of essential foundations of the life of national groups, with the aim of annihilating the groups themselves. The objectives of such a plan would be the disintegration of the political and social institutions, of culture, language, national feelings, religion, and the economic existence of national groups, and the destruction of the personal security, liberty, health, dignity, and even the lives of the individuals belonging to such groups." Why is the US government assisting a government bent on "villagization"? Is that just an Orwellian term for genocide? I wonder what Custer and Sitting Bull would have to say about all this...

The great farmers are hard working he could have bought for the money tractors and furtlizers and bring people from Ethiopia to train them further in agricltural proficiencies. What he does is testing his boundries how much he can get away with. Trust me we all will fight until the last person of us. We have never seen in Ethiopian history all the millitary is controlled by one ethnicity, the countries wealth concentrated on the government and his cronies. If he has not learn in the past and blind and deaf his day will come. 5million Tigray can not control over 70million Ethiopian. Including his cronie who is blind and deaf who underestimate ethiopian power we are quiet people but we will rise his sheik alhamoudie should go back where he came from. Who knows what his agenda is trying to buy few poor ethiopians by giving them some money. Well it's known he he give in a spoon and take in a shovel you might regrete. 8,251. Ghennet Girma	Paris, France	Land grabbing victims in Ethiopia are not just minorities or ethnic groups. This dictatorial regime is at logger heads with all sectors of society and has been using ethnicity and even religion to divide and rule. Human rights advocates are expected to stand against all abuses and for all affected sectors. Let us not be instrumental by following the same divisive approaches. Under such dictatorships it is the human rights of all citizens that are denied, including that of the girl child.
