Dear Sir,

RE: OBJECTION TO NRT COMMUNITY CONSERVANCY MODEL BY KINNA WARD RESIDENTS

We wish to kindly register our strong disapproval and protest to your honourable office regarding the above thorny matter which has elicited high octane emotions, disenfranchisement and polarization among Kinna Ward communities, who historically have been mutually co-existing amicably since time immemorial. NRT have resulted into using orthodox approach of divide and rule.

Our remonstrance is premised on the following;

Article 35(1)(a) of the Constitution of Kenya 2010 entitles every citizen to access information held by the state and state organs. Additionally, Article 35(3) obliges the state to publish and publicise important information affecting our community. Lewa Wildlife Conservancy and Northern Rangelands Trust operate in Isiolo County presumably with the regulatory approval of either or both the national and county governments. Their activities are conducted on land located within communities in Isiolo County and these operations substantially affect Kinna communities.

As such, the above provisions of the Constitution not only oblige the government to provide to the public information on the activities of Lewa Wildlife Conservancy and Northern Rangelands Trust in Isiolo County, but also entitles the residents of Kinna Ward to demand this information from the national and county governments.

Further to the above, Article 35(1)(b) of the Constitution of Kenya 2010 entitles every citizen to access information held by any other person if that information is necessary for the exercise or protection of any right or fundamental freedom. Information held by Lewa Wildlife Conservancy and Northern Rangelands Trust on the nature of their operations in Isiolo County, including any agreements/arrangements entered into by them, substantially affect the communities within which they operate and as such, Lewa Wildlife Conservancy and Northern Rangelands Trust have a constitutional obligation to publicly avail this information to Kinna residents.

As per Article 20(1) of the Constitution of Kenya, the rights enshrined in the Bill of Rights are binding on all persons. As such, any actors in the instant case, that is, Lewa Wildlife Conservancy and Northern Rangelands Trust, the national government and the County Government of Isiolo must respect the rights of the members of the community within which they operate.

It is therefore imperative to confirm if the setting aside of land for conservation in Isiolo County, particularly the conservation spearheaded by Lewa Wildlife Conservancy and Northern Rangelands Trust, complied with the provisions of the Community Land Act 2016.

Article 21(3) of the Constitution of Kenya 2010 mandates all government organs to address the needs of vulnerable groups in society including members of minority or marginalised communities and the natives of the Community land in Isiolo especially in Kinna Ward as mayhem is currently brewing between the private conservationists and the community. Therefore, considering the historically marginalised position of communities in the affected area in this instant case, and considering the fact that the communities' bargaining power is weak vis-à-vis institutional actors like Lewa Wildlife Conservancy and Northern Rangelands Trust, it is the responsibility of the government (national and county governments) to step in and protect the interests of these communities in the exploitation of their natural resources by Lewa Wildlife Conservancy and Northern Rangelands Trust.

Going by the above provisions, it is imperative that the legal basis of the operations of Lewa Wildlife Conservancy and Northern Rangelands Trust in Isiolo County be disclosed in order to determine whether the above constitutional requirements were indeed met.

As ambitiously stated in Article 174 of the Constitution of Kenya, devolution was conceived to, among others: promote democratic and accountable exercise of power; give power of self-governance to the people; enhance the participation of the people in the exercise of state power and decision-making; recognise the right of communities to manage their own affairs and development; protect and promote the interests and rights of minorities and marginalised communities; ensure equitable sharing of national and local resources; and enhance checks and balances.

The National Land Commission (NLC) has the mandate under Article 67 of the Constitution of Kenya and Section 19 of the Land Act, 2012 to, among others: conduct research related to land and the use of natural resources; investigate present or historical land injustices; monitor and exercise oversight over land use planning; make rules and regulations for the sustainable conservation of land-based natural resources.

Any use of such community land must uphold the interests and rights of members of the relevant communities, in line with the Article 63(4) of the Constitution of Kenya 2010 and Section 35 of the Community Land Act 2016. Such use must also, according to Article 60 of the Constitution of Kenya 2010 and 35 of the Community Land Act, respect the following principles: equitable access; efficiency; productivity; sustainability; security of land rights; transparency and accountability; cost effectiveness; sound conservation; protection of sensitive ecological areas; anti-discrimination; and amicable dispute resolution.

In light of the above, Section 42 of the Community Land Act empowers the affected communities to seek judicial intervention in the event that an amicable solution cannot be reached. This is in line with Articles 22 and 23 of the Constitution of Kenya 2010 which emphasise the right of the communities to approach the High Court to ensure that their rights in respect to their natural resources are upheld in the event that the national and county governments fail to do so.

We have therefore , met as a community and decided to unequivocally reject any overtures whether directly or indirectly from NRT and their agents until such a time when we shall legally register our land as enshrined in the Community Land Act. Attached is a copy of minutes of the community members led by the highly respected elders.

It is our hope and prayers that your esteemed office will heed to our call.

Yours Truly
