Oil in Turkana Paves the Way for Community Conservation – Press Release

Tullow Oil and Africa Oil have entered into a five-year grant agreement with the Northern Rangeland Trust (NRT) that will support communities in Turkana and West Pokot Counties to establish and operate six community conservancies. These conservancies will aim to transform lives, secure peace and conserve natural resources.

Impala Moved to Sera Rhino Sanctuary

33 impala have been moved from Lewa Conservancy to Sera Rhino Sanctuary in a bid to boost biodiversity in the area. Two fawns have been born in the holding enclosure, where the antelope will remain until the seasonal rains ensure good forage. This move was made possible in part by the support of USAID.

Social Media for Peace

NRT's most recent peace-related meeting was one that epitomised the rapidly changing social construction of northern Kenya's younger demographic. This was not a gathering of elders under a tree, but a meeting of the Facebook administrators for 14 of the region's most popular Facebook groups. The theme: how can we use social media as a force for peace in northern Kenya?
